*Effect of chip length in sulphite pulping, by J. N. McGovern & G. H. Chidester, Paper Trade Jour., May 3, 1934.
Same. TAPPI papers, 1934.

*Penetration of western hemlock chips by calcium bi-sulphite liquor, by C. E. Hrubesky & G. H. Chidester, Paper Trade Jour., Feb. 15, 1934.
Same. TAPPI papers, 1934.

Processing variables in evaluating pulps by the pebble and rubber-covered ball methods, by F. A. Simmonds & P. K. Baird, Paper Trade Jour., May 17, 1934.
Same. TAPPI papers, 1934.

*Pulping of cajeput, white mangrove, Australian pine, and Cunningham pine by the sulphate process, by C. E. Curran, S. L. Schwartz, & M. W. Bray, Paper Trade Jour., June 7, 1934.

SEASONING OF WOOD

*List of dry kiln manufacturers and dry kiln engineers in the United States, Forest Products Laboratory Mimeograph R1031, June 1, 1934.

Refrigeration and frozen foods: Wood in packing plant coolers: Proper moisture content is the important thing to know, by J. S. Mathewson, National Provisioner, June 9, 1934.
Same. Butchers' & Packers' Gazette, June 1, 1934.

*Wood subflooring unjustly blamed for moisture pick-up in finish flooring, by L. V. Teesdale, Southern Lbrman., June 1, 1934.
Same. Mississippi Valley Lumberman, May 11, 1934.

*Properly dried staves essential to good barrels, by W. K. Loughborough, Modern Brewery, Mar., 1934.

WOOD PRESERVATION

- *Temperature in green southern pine timbers after various steaming periods, by J. D. MacLean, Amer. Wood-Preservers' Assn. Proceedings, 1934.
- *5th Progress report. An international termite exposure test, by G. M. Hunt & T. E. Snyder, Amer. Wood-Preservers' Assn. Proceedings, 1934.

WOOD UTILIZATION, LOGGING, AND MILLING

- *Brief description of the manufacture of beer and whiskey barrels, Forest Products Laboratory, Mimeograph R1030, May, 1934.
- *Oak beer barrels must prepare to meet keen competition, by R. P. A. Johnson, Brewery Age, Jan., 1934. Mimeograph R1027.
- *Properties of white fir and their relation to the manufacture and uses of the wood, by R. P. A. Johnson & M. R. Brundage, U. S. Dept. of Agric. Tech. Bulletin 408, Feb., 1934.

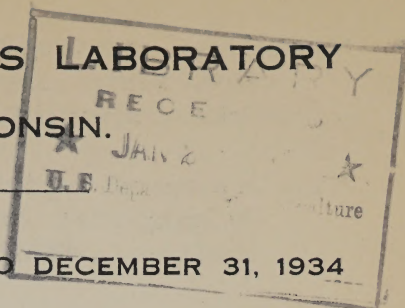

Relation of tree size to output for southern hardwoods, by R. D. Garver & R. H. Miller, Southern Lbrman., Feb. 15, 1934.

Water oak for lumber, by R. D. Garver, Southern Lbrman., June 15, 1934.

MISCELLANEOUS

New species of Graphium causing lumber stain, by C. T. Rumbold, Phytopathology, Mar., 1934.

CHEMISTRY OF WOOD

- *Composition of three fossil woods mined from the Miocene auriferous gravels of California, by G. J. Ritter and R. L. Mitchell. Jour. Amer. Chem. Soc., 1934.
Same. Mimeograph R1037.

Corrosion of metal fastenings in zinc-chloride treated wood, by R. H. Baechler. Indus. and Eng. Chem., Dec. 1934.

Spruce holocellulose and the composition of its early hydrolysable fraction, by E. F. Kurth and G. J. Ritter. Jour. Amer. Chem. Soc., Dec. 1934.

GLUE, PLYWOOD, AND COATINGS

- *Behavior of house paints on different woods, by F. L. Browne. Mimeograph R1053, Dec. 1934.
- *Special priming paints for wood, by F. L. Browne. Mimeograph R1044, Oct. 1934.

*Behavior of casein and blood glue joints, by Don Brouse.
Furn. Manfr., Sept. 1934; Wood Products, Oct. 1934.
Same. Mimeograph R1050.

✓ *Fourth progress report St. Paul Test Fence Committee --
Priming-coat reductions for painting new wood surfaces. Mimeograph R1045, Dec., 1934.

Priming-coat reductions for painting new wood surfaces,
by F. L. Browne. Amer. Paint Jour., Dec. 10, 1934;
Paint, Oil, and Chem. Review, Dec. 13, 1934.

MECHANICAL PROPERTIES OF WOOD

*Good car braces from knotty lumber, by J. A. Newlin.
Minutes Shippers Advisory Board, Amer. Ry. Assn.
Com. on Freight Claim Prevention. 1934.

New method of calculating longitudinal shear in checked wooden beams, by J. A. Newlin, G. E. Heck, and
H. W. March. Amer. Soc. Mech. Engrs. Trans.,
Oct. 1934.

*Tests show strength of Douglas Fir stringers after 23 years service, by J. A. Newlin and G. E. Heck.
Ry. Eng. and Maintenance, Aug. 1934.

PULP AND PAPER

*Evaluation of southern pines for pulp production, Pt. 3: Shortleaf pine, Pinus echinata, by M. W. Bray and B. H. Paul. Paper Trade Jour., Aug. 2, 1934.

*New pulp wood species, by C. E. Curran. Paper Mill and Wood Pulp News, Oct. 27, 1934.

SEASONING OF WOOD

Kiln drying beer staves and heading, by W. K. Loughborough. Natl. Coopers Jour., Oct. 1934.

SHIPPING CONTAINERS

- *Technic of determining the causes of damage to package goods in storage and transit, by T. A. Carlson. Mimeograph R1042, 1934.

WOOD PRESERVATION

- Farm structures last longer if given a preservative treatment, by G. M. Hunt. In U. S. Dept. of Agr. Yearbook, 1934.

WOOD STRUCTURE

- Biological chemist looks at the turpentine woods, by J. A. Hall. Naval Stores Rev., Nov. 10, 1934; South. Lbrman., Dec. 15, 1934.

- Growth, specific gravity, and shrinkage of 12 delta hardwoods, by B. H. Paul and R. O. Marts. Jour. Forestry, Nov. 1934.

- Pruning young forest trees provides work and gives profitable crops, by B. H. Paul. In U. S. Dept. of Agr. Yearbook, 1934.

WOOD UTILIZATION, LOGGING, AND MILLING

- *Description of the tests made of southern hardwoods for butter boxes and tubs, by E. M. Davis. Barrel and Box and Packages, Oct. 1934.

- Selective logging and Article X, by R. D. Garver. South. Lbrman., Aug. 15, 1934.

- Sidelights on southern hardwoods, by E. M. Davis. South. Lbrman., Dec. 15, 1934.
